

Genetics and micro-techniques teaching lab 317

Genetics: Students conduct experiments to study the structure of genetic material, examine types of cell division using microscopic slides, perform experiments on cellular genetics and the inheritance of multiple factors, statistical analysis, chromosome structure, and genetic disorders.

